Rule R94: Cultivation or tilling of land - permitted activity	Wainuiomata Rural Community Association	S164/006	Oppose	In our previous submission, we suggested that in terms of the rules for cultivation, tilling, as well as break feeding (Rule 95- break feeding- permitted activity) "drains" that are man made are excluded from the definition of a surface water body. We still consider this would be the most effective method and would be consistent with the RMA which does not include "drains", for example, in the definition of "river". Another way this could be addressed would be by including the following:  (g) all reasonable steps shall be taken to minimise the generation and release of sediment and the discharge of any sediment.  We also suggest that a distinction be made between horticulturalists, who may till the soil more frequently, and farmers.  The same clause appears in Rule R95.
